

The Wisdom of Your Clown

A surprisingly deep and funnily effective way to explore and develop your personal leadership

a 3 hours workshop
offering a safe and fun learning space,
an invitation to step
into a magical
world and meet your clown

Why ?

The clown is an expert in navigating complex systems and can help us to develop our communication, collaboration and leadership skills:

to be in the present – to be attentive – to listen – to be able to accept and work with whatever is happening in the moment – to allow ourselves to be vulnerable – to be in contact with our emotions – to drop our masks – to weave healthy emotional bonds – to be in connection with others - to observe without judgments – to go beyond 'right' and 'wrong' – to allow ourselves to make mistakes – to face obstacles and find unexpected solutions – to play with the roles we got stuck in – to allow fluidity in collaboration

& Lisou De Henau

Stien Michiels is an experienced practitioner of the Art of Participatory Leadership and has been working as an external consultant in EU Institutions since 2010. She is also a writer and a storyteller, a theatre maker and a musician. Her clown, who goes by the mysterious name of Guh-Ug, invites everyone – including herself – to bravely face what seems to be ugly, and joyfully transform it into beauty. www.stienmichiels.be Lisou De Henau is an actress who has been working on projects in a variety of theatre companies and contexts for almost 20 years, for all kinds of audiences: youth, adults, associations and institutions. She also facilitates theatre workshops for children, teenagers and adults since 1998. Her friendly, somewhat erratic clown, Lily, has the amazing capacity to listen, connect and find a playful way out of any situation.
